

---

Surplus Beam Shapers

Posted by telizotte - 2008/05/05 05:11

---

Hitachi Via Mechanics, Emerging Technology Group (HVM ETG) is offering surplus optics to students.

HVM ETG is located in Londonderry, NH, USA and has left over research level diffractive optics (no fully optimized) from process development studies.

HVM ETG is willing to provide optics to students looking for projects to meet their requirements for college or university.

The only requirement is that testing data is shared with HVM ETG on the particular device after the work is completed.

If any students have an interest, please contact HVM ETG @603-421-0408.

=====